

Colors of Kindness

The Colors of Kindness Magic show is a new kind of performance that uses everyone as volunteers. This colorful show teaches tolerance and encourages kids not to be bullies. The problem with most magic shows is that only a few kids get to come up on stage to participate. Not everyone gets to help. In this show, everyone helps! Everyone will get to be a volunteer. This colorful performance has everything you would expect in a magic show. It has magic tricks that will make you amazed and make you laugh. It has a red crayon puppet that makes an appearance and does a silly slapstick routine. There will be games between the audience and the magician, and everyone in the audience will get to participate. Kids will even learn how to do a magic trick they can do for their friends. This isn't just a magic show to watch. It's a magic show where everyone will get involved.
